Dear retail partners,

We are pleased to present the latest products and developments from our company to you, our long-standing partners. For more than 300 years and nine generations, we have been relying on our family tradition and our ability to manufacture high-quality products that also include numerous innovations.

This is an important reason why we intend to carry on with our production operations in Kirchanschöring and in other locations in Europe. These sites employ state-of-the-art technologies and materials in order to ensure we can offer you boots and shoes that meet the most demanding requirements.

Our own love of the mountains and the great outdoors also continues to inspire us in the best possible way. Indeed, we are often on the move and we use the knowledge we gain from this to continuously improve our products and develop new ideas.

Sustainability is another important value that we have been committed to for decades now. We are aware of our responsibility to protect and improve the environment, and to this end we have divided our sustainability strategy into nine #EcoSteps. These #EcoSteps represent our efforts to conserve resources, reduce waste and utilise environmentally friendly materials. However, we also believe that our repair service has a very important role to play here because making use of this service offers another way to conserve resources.

In this sense, sustainability is not a destination for us, but rather a journey that you can also follow along with on our website at: www.meindl.de/sustainability-2/?lang=en

In this catalogue, we present to you a wide range of exciting new products and developments that stand out through numerous innovations. All of us from the Meindl team hope you will enjoy our new collection.

We wish you all a successful season and look forward to continuing our strong and rewarding partnership in the coming season

Lars Meindl

Sustainability based on tradition.

Every single day we go one step further –
EcoStep by EcoStep.

Our products allow people to experience nature, and this is why it matters so much to us to protect nature and to care for it in every respect. We therefore do not view sustainability as a collection of clever advertising claims. Instead, sustainability is a path that we are taking, one that leads us to become better every day while focusing on the quality of our products with motivated ideas, innovation and above all a strong sense of responsibility that we, as a Bavarian family business, have assumed for more than 300 years. These days, we are guided by our nine, #EcoSteps for step-by-step improvement:

EcoStep > PRODUCT

EcoStep > PARTNER

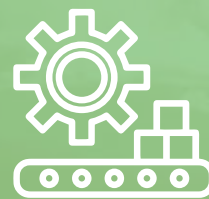

EcoStep > EMPLOYEES

EcoStep > COMPANY

EcoStep > SOCIAL

Technology based on tradition.

This philosophy has been driving us for more than three centuries, ensuring that our boots and shoes just keep getting better.

From the very beginning, we have understood that safety must always be the top priority with technical footwear. This is why every day at Meindl we need to reconcile what seem to be conflicting requirements with regard to low weight, the best possible fit, excellent durability, a high degree of comfort and complete safety. Our numerous Meindl technology innovations are part of the secret of our success alongside the hand craft skills of the people who manufacture our boots and shoes with as many as 190 individual production steps. Bavarian shoemaking craftsmanship combined with revolutionary innovation – this is how we define the philosophy of technology based on tradition, and it's a philosophy we remain committed to.
